YOUTH CENTER IS IMPERILED BY LACK OF FUNDS

The future of the Bay St. Louis youth center is being threatened due to lack of financial support. Mrs. Betty Nobles, director of the center, told the Eagle this week that only $8.50 had been raised in over a week of the current fund drive. Around $1200 is needed annually to maintain the center.

During the last six weeks, attendance at the youth center has averaged between seven and eight hundred. Mrs. Nobles said. She pointed out that if our young people are to be kept off the streets or away from disreputable spots in their search for entertainment, facilities such as are offered by the Bay St. Louis Youth Center must be supported.

The youth center, which recently celebrated its sixth birthday, was established to give wholesome recreation to the young people of the community. It provides a juke box for dancing, ping pong, and all types of games, as well as television, radio and books.

DOLL NAMED JIBBY TO BE HIGHLIGHT OF PTA STYLE SHOW

One of the highlights of the children's style show being sponsored by the PTA of Christ Church Parish School will be Jibby, a doll who has seen many style changes in children's apparel.

The style show will be given at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club Wednesday, Aug. 26.

Jibby has been observing children for five generations and has been handed down from mother to daughter through the years until now she belongs to Mrs. Ruth Hackett East, one of the designers of the clothes to be modeled at the show.

Jibby is 18 inches tall and is made of cloth, including her face which has old painted features and black painted hair. Her shoes are of red material and she wears authentic layers of old fashioned underclothes, but her dress is a copy of one that is decades old.

She will sit on a trunk almost as old as she is, but like her dress the trunk also has been refurbished with shiny black paint, bright brass hinges and new lining.

Mrs. East was graduated from McGhee's in 1939 and was graduated from Vassar in 1943 with a History and Art Major. She has been dressing dolls since she was a little girl and has always liked to sew. While she was still in high school she began to design children's clothes, and several times almost was put out of her classes at McGhee's for drawing what her teachers called "paper dolls."

During her college days at Vassar she and her roommate did a great deal of sewing. They designed and created shirts for sale and the proceeds went for the 75th anniversary celebration of the school. Actually nothing has completely interrupted her designing career. During the war when she was traveling around the country with her husband, then in service, she took a design course at the National Academy of Dress Design. And now after 11 years of marriage and four children ranging in age from eight years to six months she is still designing. Even with the children she allows herself a few special hours each day for her work.

Mrs. East and Mrs. Kunster, the other partner in the designing firm, have known each other for several years and after much work together have begun to market their creations in a small way. They will have two lines a year with a few late additions to the fall lines especially for Christmas, and for the early showing of the summer line for Easter. The summer things will typify what Southerners want for their Southern children, something that many Northern designers lose sight of—that is, washable clothes of the most comfortable materials and coolest design possible. All clothes are hand finished and made for the individual child.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Ray Stieffel Sr. spent last week cruising in the Gulf on their newly-purchased steel cabin cruiser, "De Paw-Paw." They also stopped up the Jordan River and spent two days at the home of Dr. Emmett Lee Irwin where they visited with Mr. and Mrs. James Normand.

EYE EXAMS FOR COUNTY CHILDREN IS LIONS GOAL

The Bay St. Louis Lions Club, in two meetings of the Board of Directors, held August 13 and Aug. 18, took positive action towards their avowed civic goal of eye examinations for all Hancock County children and the providing of necessary eyeglasses for those who need them and cannot afford the price.

The Board voted to expand its membership by at least 20 more members and the membership committee, headed by Lion John Damborino, has a list of thirty names of Bay St. Louis and Hancock County business and professional men, all recommended by Lions Club members.

Originally chartered with 16 men on Oct. 9, 1952, the club has 9 of its charter members left, with other new members added since. Original members left are Warren Carver, Russell Chapman, John Damborino, John Cyril Glover, C. H. Parke, Emile Piazza, Earl Ramond, John Scafide and Rev. Charles Schultz.

In a fund-raising action for the Lions activities, such as the eye-saving program, the Board voted to sponsor the Select-O-Vend automatic merchandise machine. This penny and nickel candy and gum dispenser will be located in all available places through-out Bay St. Louis and Hancock County. Choice confections and gum will be available for pennies, and a good portion of those same pennies will stay in Hancock County and be devoted by the Lions Club to their many civic projects, of which the sight conservation is the main objective.

Initial profits will immediately bring volunteer optometrists to Bay St. Louis, with a special State-owned machine for eye examination.

The next Lions Club meeting will be held Monday noon at Hotel Reed, with the list of the new members present, and an entertaining program furnished by the Program Chairman, Lion Russell Chapman.

MISS RUTH KNOWLES AGAIN DONATES TO MEMORIAL LIBRARY

Miss Ruth Knowles, donor of the $20,000 worth of volumes that became the inspiration for the new library building, spent two days visiting in Bay St. Louis.

She expressed herself as "more than delighted" with the housing of the books and considered the new library building a "wonderful achievement."

Asked by Miss Louise Crawford, the librarian, to tell her what she considered the finest volumes in the collection, Miss Knowles removed from the stacks two volumes that she said had come directly to her from the Library of John Ruskin. She also selected several other volumes containing colored lithographs of English scenes that had great value. Miss Crawford said these volumes are "no longer on the stacks, but are locked securely in a special cabinet."

Miss Knowles made a further gift to the library during her visit—a number of chairs, small tables and additional shelves in mahogany and walnut as well as a very nice desk and sundry other useful small pieces of furniture and household appliances.

Miss Knowles spent the summer as a councilor at All Saints College in Vicksburg, and will return there this fall, where she will become a member of the faculty.

Miss Crawford reports that two workers from the Mississippi Library Commission will soon be in Bay St. Louis to help classify and assort the books at the library.

A $5 donation was received this week for the library from Mr. and Mrs. George Sick.

A stalled truck at Main and Tontine resulted in the arrest of two men in connection with the robbery of W. A. McDonald & Sons Warehouse Monday night.

Sheriff John Egloff, assisted by Constable Nolan Kingston and Detective Paul Egloff and Gerald Farris, learned the truck was supposed to be owned by Jewel Jones, negro resident of Pascagoula.

Sheriff Egloff and his men picked up Jones in Pascagoula and returned him to Bay St. Louis for questioning.

Jackson County Sheriff Lee Byrd, his deputy, Cecil Byrd, and the Pascagoula police force were cooperating with the Hancock County authorities on the case. After Sheriff Egloff returned to Hancock County he received a radio message from Sheriff Byrd that a man who reportedly received some of the stolen goods had been apprehended and was jailed in Pascagoula.

Deputy Paul Egloff this morning told the Eagle that word had been received that the manager of a Phillips service station in Pascagoula was said to have been approached about two weeks ago and asked if he could dispose of some cigarettes. On Monday night the manager of the station, a white man named Lowry, was said to have received from a negro by the name of Wise Newton several cases of cigarettes. Eight of these cases were in his possession when the arrest was made.

Deputy Egloff said that in questioning Jones Sheriff Egloff learned that Jones had purchased the truck from Lowry but had not completed payment for it. The truck had been taken for use by Lowry, who had then loaned it to Wise on the night of Aug. 17, Jones claimed he was not in the truck. Deputy Egloff said.

The deputy said they expected to take Newton, who lives in Hattiesburg, into custody today.

Identification of the truck was made in Bay St. Louis by Edward Fayard, a railroad bridge tender, who reportedly saw the truck and two men in McDonald's yard while he was on his way to work. He ran them out and reported it to the city police, it was said. Policemen Garcia and Caperton then allegedly came on the scene of the stalled truck and assisted Sheriff Egloff on the case.

STATE EXPECTS $70 MILLION IN TWO-YEAR PERIOD

JACKSON—Mississippi expects $70 million in federal funds in the two-year period ending June 30, 1954—a net of more than eight million dollars from the last two years of the Truman administration.

The state Tax commission said yesterday the figure is based on 38 million already granted the state in the first year. The state gets federal funds for public health, roads and highways, public health, employment services, vocational education and re-education, forestry, agriculture, college extension services, school lunch and other programs.

Some $10 million of the $70 million was received in 1951 but spent later, was not counted in the 1952-53 year.

Supposedly lying on his deathbed in the late Spring of this year, Magr. Louis Jacob is now at the home of his parents in Bay St. Louis, looking as fit and vigorous as any young man in his early forties. True, this nationally known and well loved priest must rest for a period of time each day, but other than that he has resumed a normal way of life and will return to his duties as pastor of the Annunciation Church in New Orleans upon the completion of his visit here.

The Monsignor attributes his phenomenal recovery to the prayers of his friends, parishioners and fellow priests, as well as to the skill of his doctors. Following his discharge from the hospital in New Orleans, Magr. Jacob flew in a pressurized plane to Omaha, Neb. He convalesced in the nearby small town of Elkhorn. The trip was made with two close friends, Mr. and Mrs. George Boland, with whom he had traveled to Europe in 1949.

From April 28 to July 14 he was not allowed to say a Mass. He said his first Mass after this lapse of time in St. Joseph's Hospital in Nashua, N. H., where he was resting following orders from his doctors, and where he had traveled after leaving the West.

During his stay in Elkhorn, Magr. Jacob visited Magr. Wenger, who succeeded Father Flannigan as head of Boys' Town. He attended a Sunday Service at Boy's Town, situated twelve miles from Elkhorn. Father Brock, the Pastor of the Catholic Church at Elkhorn, is a close friend of Magr. Jacob and added much to his comfort during his stay.

Leaving Omaha, he flew East and spent some time in New York City, then went on to Boston, and from there to the coast of Maine. Here he visited with other dear friends, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Thibault, at their summer home in Ogunquit during the month of July. A man of the world as well as a

POULTRY
Do not forget to get your laying house in order before housing your new pullets. This includes a thorough cleaning and disinfecting. Don't attempt to disinfect the house without first cleaning it of all organic matter. This organic matter will counteract the effect of the disinfectant.

Make sure that you have a clean, deep litter on the floor—rins inches of litter is not too much. Plenty of nesting room and roosting space is vital. Have one nest for each four or five hens. Allow at least nine inches of roost space per bird and have the roost poles at least 13 inches apart.

Do not house young pullets with old hens. The old hens may transmit some disease to the pullets and they may keep the pullets away from the feed trough.

It is not too late to worry about proper care of the birds due to hot weather. Make sure that your poultry house has plenty of ventilation—this means ventilation at floor level and in the roof as well as ordinary window space.

Water is a must. Chickens use lots of water. Four four-foot tubs for each 150 hens is none too many. Keep plenty of feed in front of the birds at all times.

However, with cool weather rapidly approaching, you had better be making plans now to close the house up for the winter.

DAIRY
A cow producing 5,000 pounds of milk per year pays the farmer about $100 more than a cow producing 3,000 pounds. A cow producing 3,000 pounds of milk per year will pay the farmer about $50 less than a cow producing 5,000 pounds.

Low producers are not profitable to keep. They are a drain on the farmer's pocketbook. They are a waste of space and feed. They are a source of trouble and worry.

Creeping Prosperity—

One newspaper editor recently got his fill of the efforts of some enemies of rural electrification to label it as "creeping socialism." His anger spilled out in a hot editorial.

First of all, he said, there is not the slightest connection between farmer-owned rural electric systems and socialism—creeping or otherwise. Socialism, he wrote, means government ownership and the government now owns a rural electric system than a bank owns a farm on which it holds a mortgage.

But the thing which did more than anything else to anger the editor was that anyone would attack this program which has done so much for rural areas. He pointed out all that rural electrification had done for farmers, businessmen and everyone else in his community. "Creeping prosperity," he wrote, "could be a far better term for rural electrification."

As a locally-owned business, we are proud to be a part of the rural electrification program. We are proud to be a part of the program which has done so much for rural areas. We are proud to be a part of the program which has done so much for farmers, businessmen and everyone else in his community. "Creeping prosperity," he wrote, "could be a far better term for rural electrification."

DOGS TRAIN SEMINARY RETREAT SETS NEW RECORD

Ninth annual weekend retreat for boys was completed with a record registration of 309 retreatants who attended five different weekend retreats during July and August at St. Augustine's Seminary in Bay St. Louis.

Retreat master was the Rev. George Wilson, S.V.D., a native of New York and an alumnus of St. Augustine's, and his assistant was Fr. John J. O'Connell, S.V.D., of St. Augustine's Seminary.

The retreat was under the direction of the boys' retreat league of St. Augustine's Seminary. From the growing interest in the retreat movement, and especially in the retreat taken by the seminarians, it is evident that the spiritual benefits, as well as the physical and mental, of the retreat is appealing to Catholic men.

MEET THE
"INVISIBLE MEN"
IN YOUR KITCHEN

Dependable natural gas service doesn't "just happen." Back of your gas range is an army of skilled workers engaged in finding, producing and delivering gas, not only for cooking, but for many other uses in the homes and factories of the nation.

Some of the most important "invisible men" in your kitchen are the producers — the men who take the enormous financial risks necessary to drill a well in search of oil and gas. "Risk?" you say. Only one out of nine exploratory wells drilled in the nation last year was a producer!

But the gas industry will continue to discover new reserves, so long as natural gas sells at prices that will provide the incentive to locate, transport and distribute this marvelous fuel. Actually, we think you'll agree that natural gas is worth every cent you pay for it... and then some!

UNITED GAS SERVING THE Gulf Coast

Little Theatre

By E. H. McCall

From the attendance at the Little Theatre last week-end, I'd say they were having their pluck to keep the community. Their latest production, "The Man," was definitely the best the group has ever attempted from a dramatic standpoint.

Psychological drama is difficult to interpret. Not only from a director's standpoint, but from that of the actor. It takes a great deal of theatrical knowledge, but nothing was lacking in the production.

It is amazing when you stop and realize that a group of amateurs, working together on a single project, can achieve the near professional in their work. It proves beyond a doubt that the impossible can be accomplished when people work together.

It is common knowledge that the present board, under President Erle Kirkpatrick, has had innumerable problems to overcome this year. So often people will accept adversity and say "it happened for the best." In this writer's opinion, I believe it has. It brought about a complete revision of the Theatre's plan of action. The results so far prove their program effective.

Kirk claims he has "the workiest board any President ever had." The same might very well be said about Kirk. He can be seen down at the Little Theatre almost any time, cutting grass, singing paint or repairing a door. His heart is in his hobby and the results are beginning to show.

The Little Theatre has carried a tremendous responsibility to the community for a long time. From a cultural standpoint, the Little Theatre has been an important factor in the life of the community. It has been a place where people have come to see and be seen. It has been a place where people have learned to work together and to achieve the impossible. It has been a place where people have found a sense of purpose and a sense of belonging.

The Little Theatre is not just a place where people go to see a play. It is a place where people go to live. It is a place where people go to find a sense of purpose and a sense of belonging. It is a place where people go to learn to work together and to achieve the impossible.

The Little Theatre is a place where people go to live. It is a place where people go to find a sense of purpose and a sense of belonging. It is a place where people go to learn to work together and to achieve the impossible.

..INFORMATION..

BY R. G. HUBBARD JR. SUPERVISOR, DIST. 5

When I first went into office, I started a series of articles to keep the public informed as to what transpired at the meetings of the Board of Supervisors. It was only after I discontinued this column that I came to the realization of how much the people wanted it. Therefore, each month my column will bring to you what goes on "behind the scenes."

Wood preservative is for the purpose of dipping lumber which is used for the bridges of the county. I feel there is an excessive amount purchased in Hancock County.

I have used less than $30 worth, therefore I am at a loss to understand how the other four districts could use more than $22,000 (twenty-two thousand dollars) worth in one year and $12,000 (twelve thousand dollars) worth in another year. One district alone purchased $16,000 worth of wood preservative, and only $1,400 worth of lumber. As the new state law puts the price of lumber at $174 per thousand, it is costing $290 to preserve $174 worth of lumber. The material in the bridge of District 5, therefore, costs the county $974 per thousand feet. When the new preservative is put on, it is gotten for $180 per thousand feet. This is only ONE direction in which the taxpayer's money is going.

Many people do not realize that the official minutes of the Board do not tell everything that is going on. To substantiate this assertion, I am listing below a report furnished by the auditor upon request of the Junkin Committee.

(Signed) R. G. HUBBARD JR.

BIG TELEPHONE MONEY SAVER at work!

Mississippians along the Memphis to New Orleans cable route saw our big cable-train digging trench, laying cable and back-filling all in one operation — saving up to 60 percent in time — and a lot of money.

Every family knows that it's important now-a-days to make dollars go farther. In the telephone business, stretching dollars through every practical economy is something we've been doing for years, good times and bad.

The big cable-train shown above is an example of the kind of short-cuts we use to save important sums of money. Smaller economies, too, are made possible by time and labor-saving devices of every kind, which members of the telephone team do daily.

Over the months these economies — large and small — have helped us bring you nine months of service at prices which make your telephone bill one of the lowest in today's family budget.

AGRICULTURE PROGRAM SET

In longer with the passage of the National Agricultural Conservation Act, the Department of Agriculture will also permit Federal assistance for initiating the National Agricultural Conservation Program. The act authorizes the Department to make available to the States a formula similar to previous years distribution.

In authorizing the 1954 program of financial assistance, the Congress indicated that the national program should encourage but not be limited to permanent and semi-permanent practices. Consequently, the 1954 locally-developed state and county programs will be designed particularly to encourage farmers to initiate and carry out soil and water conservation practices which will provide the maximum and most enduring conservation benefits.

Federal funds will be used only for those practices which are deemed essential in the public interest and which the farmer or rancher indicates he would not otherwise carry out with his own resources.

The establishment of legume and grass vegetative cover as a part of land-use adjustments and in initiating systematic crop rotations is an important part of the 1954 program. Federal cost-sharing on seed, lime and commercial fertilizers essential to such establishment are provided for in the program.

St. Louis, has been thrilling to all attending. On Saturday evening the members of the Baptist Mission in Waveland presented Brother Batson, Brother Robert McNamee and Brother Padgett with a set of cuff links and a tie clip. Mrs. Ruth Ketchum, pianist, was presented with a beautiful double orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rose and family left Sunday morning for a vacation trip to Georgia. They will visit Mr. Rose's sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Jules Scallion and Mr. Jos. Flinn of Metairie were guests over the week end of Mr. and Mrs. James Mocklin Jr.

Mrs. Cora E. Graves, aunt of Mrs. W. M. Bozeman, has returned to her home in Mendenhall. She has had a pleasant vacation with Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Bozeman.

Mrs. Ott Brockman and children, Peggy Ann and Christine Ann, spent Sunday in Lakeshire visiting Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Courrage and family.

Mrs. C. M. King and children returned to New Orleans after an enjoyable visit to Mr. and Mrs. Travis Bozeman.

Patsy and "Bebe" Bozeman are attending the Holiday Hill Camp under the supervision of Mrs. Alice Gaudet. Swimming, horseback riding, handicraft work are enjoyed. The camp will continue for the next two weeks.

State handbooks will likewise contain the authority for developing county programs for soil and water conservation practices on which farmers and ranchers may qualify for ACP cost-sharing.

Farmers and ranchers will be acquainted with the provisions of this financial assistance program, through meetings, press, radio and other methods of communications. While the maximum amount of cost-sharing that can go to any one farmer, as determined by Congress, is $150,000 the average will be far less than this amount.
